

Jason Jennings
Keynote Speeches & Presentations
2009

"Everyone is searching for the same things in life; the assurance that everything is going to be alright, that their tomorrows can be better than their today and the roadmap that shows them how to make that brighter day happen. Together these things comprise the essence of purpose and it's my responsibility in a keynote speech to provide that assurance, promise and the roadmap."

Jason Jennings

Hit The Ground Running

Jason's new speech is based on the most important findings from the research for his latest book; Hit The Ground Running-A Manual For New Leaders.

This speech can be customized for the following audiences:

- Small business owners and managers
- High level executives and CEO's
- Association members
- Sales conferences and meetings
- Newly named managers and leaders as part of succession planning

The Five Secrets of the World's Best Performing Leaders and Companies

This is the crowd pleaser that's received standing ovations from hundreds of thousands of people in scores of countries around the world. After studying more than 100,000 companies for his best selling books on speed (It's Not the Big That Eat the Small...It's the Fast That Eat the Slow), on productivity (Less Is More), on growing revenues (Think BIG, Act Small) and his latest book, Hit The Ground Running, Jason works with the group sponsoring the speech and selects the five most important discoveries he's made that are appropriate for the audience and presents them in spellbinding fashion.

This speech can be customized for any audience composed of people wanting to improve their management and leadership skills and life skills and is especially appropriate for:

- Small business owners and managers
- High level executives and CEO's
- Association members
- Sales conferences and meetings
- HR groups and associations

Both of these speeches are offered as either a keynote speech accompanied by Q&A or as a half-day program.
